Alzheimer Scotland Dementia Advisor Justine Nicolson will talk about what supports are available in the community and online for people living with dementia, their carers and families in the Falkirk area. As well as focusing on the local picture, she will also talk about Alzheimer Scotland and what they are doing nationally – campaign work, national helpline, new services introduced during covid, research and digital initiatives. This talk will include plenty time for Q and A.

07 December 2021 Improving Community Engagement @ the Carers Centre or on Zoom

Falkirk Council wants the Falkirk Council area to be the best possible place to live, and wants to work with local people to improve this. The Council recognises it can achieve much more by working together with local communities to make things change. As part of their Strategy for Community Engagement (2019-2024), it wants to become even better at involving people who live in the area in the decisions that affect their lives and in designing the services that they use. Come along to learn more and give your input on what you think currently works well, what does not, and how you think things can be improved.
