Questions/Comments

Working with perpetrators?

Advice from referrer, perpetrator still in relationship? Use mapping tool to map behaviour and impact.

Cultural Considerations

Mapping needs to consider cultural issues – maybe adding things to training to make it relevant for different cultural backgrounds – Al Massar offering to feed in to the Safe and Together Model

- Looking for people with lived experience to feed in now – So offer to Al Masaar to feed in to that
- Went live on 1st Jan so looking to review and have a focus group

Mapping Tools

- Remote tools available this year
- Some mapping tools available now

4 Day Safe and Together Training – March

HMP Polmont – any other councils across Scotland doing same

- It's a national approach
- You need to be a partner agency (200 worldwide)
- www.safeandtogetherinstitute.com
 - Free e-learning and resources

Triggers for those with Lived Experience

- How do we reduce effects of trauma when dealing with people with lived experience and wont be re-traumatising or triggering
- Consider a warning with communications saying that the training could be triggering for those with lived experience attending training (trauma informed practice)
- Maybe an action in the future to mention that it could be triggering
- Facilitators feel that these sessions might be better in person rather than virtual
- There is an application process for the 4 day training programme where questions around these topics are asked
- Training will hopefully be expanded in the future and maybe start with social work and childrens service but maybe move on to education, housing etc

Maybe have more different communities of Interest

- Email invite contain more about what's actually going to be talked about to proactively think about peoples triggers

Update: Potential Duty of Care issue

A member of AL Masaar (Farah) informed us that Sofia was triggered by the information contained within the session.

Nicolla Stewart from Barnardos offered to get in touch with the person but I think CVS need to also follow up on this
